The Four Freshmen became a vocal group at Arthur Jordan Conservatory in Indianapolis in 1946, while they were in their freshman year. Their sound started with a distinct “barbershop” flavor. After a few months of literally “singing for their supper,” they conceived the idea of trying to get a five-voice sound with only four voices.

This form of an idea has grown and polished and perfected until today the Four Freshmen stand at the head of the class, known throughout the country for their distinctive, original style.

One night in 1960 they were playing in Dayton, Ohio. A local disc jockey and strobe booster Jack Shon Kerton to hear them. One division was all he needed to send them to Hollywood, sign them to a Capitol recording contract and give them the push that propelled them to stardom.

In 1955, and their highly successful single of “Day By Day,” the Four Freshmen have had a succession of hits, including “Graduation Day” and “Charmaine,” and topped by their albums, “Four Freshmen and Five Trombones,” and “Four Freshmen and Five Trumpets”.

Coupled with their recording successes have appearances in “Rich, Young and Preety,” the May Anthony Television Show,” numerous guest spots on other network TV shows, and outstanding performances in colleges and ballrooms throughout the country. In 1956 the Freshmen went to New York where they appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show.

And they have been able to bring their program to this country and to Europe with a song and dance which people have come to love. Ricks will present to them.

The Four Freshmen, who have slated a program at the Ricks Auditorium April 19, will present two shows that night in connection with a dance.

All seminarians, students, faculty members, and guests are invited to attend.
